199 Gough Street is located on a 28' x 87' lot on the southwest corner of Gough and Oak Streets. Built in 1907, 199 Gough Steet is a 2-story, wood frame, multiple family over commercial building designed in the Classical Revival style. The rectangular-plan building, clad in flush wood and wood shiplap siding, is capped by a flat roof. The foundation is not visible from the street. The primary façade faces east toward Gough Street and is 3 bays wide. The first floor features a storefront with formstone water table; wood-frame, plate glass windows with divided transoms in the left and right bays; and a recessed, metal, glazed door with transom in the middle bay. The upper story is characterized by chamfered bay windows with double-hung, wood sash in the left and corner bays and a small, art glass, wood awning window in the middle bay. The façade terminates in an entablature with dentil molding and cornice and a plain parapet wall. The secondary elevation faces north along Oak Street is 6 bays wide. The first story contains a set of three entrances in the third bay. A recessed entry porch with architrave surround, security gate, and elaborate putti and cartouche relief above the opening shelters two glazed wood doors with a center fixed window. The entrance is flanked by two flush entrances; the left entrance has a glazed wood door and transom, while the right entrance has a paneled wood door. A fixed, divided wood window is set left of the entrances. The right end of the first story is a single story in height and contains a storefront that continues into the 2-story section of the building. The storefront has an entrance with glazed wood door and divided, fixed wood windows. The second story has semi-hexagonal bay windows identical to those on the façade in the and a single flush double-hung wood window over the recessed unit entrance. The building appears to be in good condition.
