ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Preserving our Heritage through Design Guidelines

Since 1967, San Francisco's Historic Preservation Program has designated and protected significant historic and cultural resources; ranging from iconic architectural masterpieces and monuments to historic events, to sites associated with the cultural legacies and social movements that define our city.

This week, the department's Historic Preservation team launched an initial workshop and discussion on design guidelines for the historic structures and districts in San Francisco. Design Guidelines play a necessary role by providing direction on successfully rehabilitating these irreplaceable resources and encouraging the ongoing revitalization of our neighborhoods.
