Enclosed are color renderings of the five new buildings (on three campuses) that are being proposed as part of California Pacific Medical Center's (CPMC) Long-Range Development Plan. These buildings include a new Neurosciences Institute at the Davies Campus, a new hospital and medical office building at the St. Luke's Campus, and a new hospital and medical office building at the Van Ness and Geary Campus.

At the hearing on May 12, 2011, CPMC will elaborate on the architecture, urban design, and public realm improvements proposed for these three campuses. Color copies of their presentation will be provided to Commissioners at the hearing and will also be available on the Department's website (cpmc.sfplanning.org). Following the design presentation by CPMC, Planning staff will provide a brief overview of the entitlements that are needed in order to implement the projects.

Please note that in addition to a complete set of color renderings, full line drawings of the five new buildings will be provided to the Commission in their packets several weeks prior to the action hearing, which is currently scheduled for August 11, 2011.
